

Jasmine Zhang has been playing the piano for ten years. She currently attends the Precollege Division at the Manhattan School of Music and has performed at Carnegie Hall, Merkin Hall, and Steinway Hall. She has passed all levels of the ABRSM piano examinations with distinction and was recently invited to perform in the NYSSMA All-State Piano Showcase in Rochester. She also won second place at the Musical Life Competition and first place at the Crescendo International Competition this past year. Besides music, she loves to dance. Her dedication to the arts continues to shape her journey as a well-rounded performer.
